Pre-Performance Announcements for

(Re)current Unrest

Presented on October 16 and 17, 2020 by
The University of Texas at Austin in partnership with Texas Performing Arts and Fusebox Festival

Livestream Disclaimer:

“Because the live content being filmed for (Re)current Unrest is being streamed over the internet from multiple cameras, there may be some delay in sound. Additionally, several factors, including your viewing computer device system resources as well as your internet connection and speed bandwidth may affect the quality of your live media viewing experience. These issues will be corrected in the final post-production film, scheduled to be released later this fall. Thank you for sharing this experience with us.”

Statement on Safety Protocols:

“This livestream and the rehearsals leading up to it have been filmed in accordance with the protocols outlined by ‘Return to Dancing and Training Considerations Due to COVID-19’ developed by DanceUSA; ‘The Safe Way Forward’ join report of the Directors’ Guild of America, SAG-AFTRA, IATSE and Teamsters’ Union; and the Research Restart and Protect Texas Together guidelines developed by The University of Texas at Austin. All performers, designers and crew were screened weekly.”
